

Adventure, Relaxation & New Experiences -Summer Holidays-

AJ and Ian kicked off September with a well-deserved vacation.

Day one began with a five-hour drive, lunch in the car, and a classic chippy tea. A was thrilled to be the first person to step into the caravan.

Day two featured a morning of shopping followed by a relaxing beach stroll in the afternoon. Ian suggested a boat trip, but A was content watching the boats from the shore. An attempt to enjoy drinks while taking in the scenery was interrupted by buzzing bees. Andrew's advice to, "Stop waving and sit still," worked like a charm and they eventually left.

As well as lots of leisure time a bit of real life crept in, like laundry duties. The days were filled with various activities, including dining out and a night at the local club. Most evenings, A loved winding down on the sofa, watching movies and TV.

It was a mix of adventure, relaxation, and everyday moments!
